

EUROPA CLIPPER

Exploring the habitability of ocean worlds

Antenna prototype in testing – April 1, 2019

www.nasa.gov

Hidden beneath the icy surface of Europa is a saltwater ocean, that might be the best place in our solar system to look for life. Brownish materials on the surface are thought to have come from the ocean and reveal clues about its habitability.